GHOULS MUTILATED BODIES OF TRAIN WRECK VICTIMS TO STEAL THEIR JEWELRY

Engineer Miller and Others Testify Before Coroner Mix of Horrors That Followed Latest New Haven Railroad Disaster.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 5.—That there were wholesale and disgraceful robberies from dead bodies at the railroad wreck at North Haven on Tuesday morning is the opinion of Coroner Mix, who reported the facts to Chief of Police Smith today and requested him to apprehend the culprits.

It is understood that Coroner Mix, during his inquest, heard witnesses tell of men cutting fingers off dead passengers to get rings and of persons searching clothing of injured passengers to secure money or valuables.

As soon as this testimony was given, the Coroner sent for Chief Smith and gave him a copy of the statements brought out, with descriptions of the alleged thieves. Four detectives were assigned to the case.

Engineer Miller of the White Mountain train testified that he heard a woman groaning and, looking around, he saw a man deliberately cut off her finger, on which were several rings, and run away. He also saw a man strip a dead woman's hand. Afterward he saw a man lean over an injured woman and snatch away a locket. Other railroad men gave corroborative testimony, and one of them told of a man who, with a pillow-case, went about picking up jewelry, purses and other articles of value.

N. Y. N. H. DIRECTORS RESOLVE TO USE STEEL CARS ONLY

At Meeting To-Day They Take Warning From Recent Disasters.

The executive committee of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad this afternoon accepted the resignation of W. W. Wadsworth and recommended Mr. Wadsworth's successor William Murray, Chief of Boston. Action on both directors will be taken up at the meeting of the committee next Friday night.

The committee readopted its resolutions of Oct. 17, 1912, regarding instructions to the president of the New York and New Haven Railroad to make a most searching investigation into the competency of the railroad's engineers and also directing that no limitations be placed on the installation of new safety devices and signals and all steel cars to insure the greatest safety to the passenger travel. For the latter purpose the committee voted today an appropriation of $25,000.

A letter was also read from J. P. Morgan & Company advising the company that the bankers wished to terminate the fiscal agreement existing between the Morgan firm and the railroad within the ninety days provided in the agreement.

THREE MEN BURNED IN BROADWAY BLOWUP

Gas Under Shoe Store Explodes and Catches Investigators in Trap.

Manager Guy Williamson of the Hurley shoe store at No. 117 Broadway smelled smoke at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. With Wesley Brown, a negro porter, and Royer Light, a salesman, he invaded the cellar and traced the smoke to the rear of the building. The three were fighting their way to the centre of the trouble when there was a sudden and terrific explosion that hurled them from their feet. Several other employees ran to the cellar and carried them out.

The concussion caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood of Broadway and Twenty-eighth Street, which was crowded at the time. An ambulance surgeon took care of the three injured men. Williamson sustained severe burns of the face and body. Brown was burned about the shoulders and Light was cut in the face. The explosion was caused by gas.

CHILD OF FIFTEEN KILLED BY AN AUTO.

A girl about fifteen years of age was struck by an automobile at Greenwich and Charles Street at 4 o'clock this afternoon. She was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where she died at 4:15.

The auto is owned by H. B. Claffin, the wholesale druggist. It was driven by Charles Osborn, of No. 82 West One Hundred and Eighty-third Street. The girl's sister had been tied with a pink ribbon. She wore a tan dress, brown jacket and black shoes.

THAW DEFIES EFFORTS TO DEPORT HIM AFTER DECISION OF BOARD

Writ Ordering Fugitive's Instant Production at Montreal Notifies That Proceedings Before Deportation Board Are Not Final.

PENNY-ANTE IS CHARGE AGAINST PROSECUTOR

Special Deputy Attorney-General of New York State in Cell Occupied by Matteawan Fugitive.

COATICOOK, Quebec, Canada, Sept. 5.—Just as he was about to be deported over the border into Vermont at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon into the waiting hands of William Travers Jerome, Harry K. Thaw was saved by a writ of habeas corpus granted by Justice Gervais of the Court of King's Bench of Montreal.

Telegraphic notification that a writ of habeas corpus and a restraining order had been issued was received by the Immigration Board here a few minutes after the board had handed down a decision ordering Thaw's deportation into Vermont on two grounds—that he had entered the Dominion by stealth and that he had been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years.

The telegram from Montreal stated that Thaw should be produced in Montreal forthwith and that Lawyers Greenshields and Laflamme of Thaw's counsel were on the way to Coaticook aboard a special train with the writ and the restraining order. Of course this action in Montreal by a high court practically nullified everything that had been done in Coaticook.

The immigration authorities made preparations to comply with the writ without delay. They said they would await the arrival of Messrs. Greenshields and Laflamme with the papers and then start for Montreal on the first train.

Pending the decision of the Immigration Board Mr. Jerome had left town in his automobile, although he was under $500 bail on a charge of gambling, preferred against him this morning. Jerome had been kept in ignorance of the fact that two of Thaw's lawyers had gone to Montreal for a habeas corpus writ and he supposed that Thaw would be deported at 3:30 o'clock, according to programme.

While he was waiting for Thaw across the Vermont border the telegram came from Montreal upsetting all his plans. He had practically jumped his bail, because if Thaw had been deported Jerome would not have returned to Coaticook.

Mr. Jerome's arrest was, he says, a move on the part of Thaw's lawyers to come him in jail at Coaticook in order to prevent him from following Thaw in the event of Thaw's deportation. The action of Judge Gervais apparently supersedes every other procedure in the case and ties the hands of the immigration authorities, who had been expected to deport Thaw from this place this afternoon.

Mr. Jerome spent an hour and a half in a cell in the Coaticook lockup formerly occupied by Harry Thaw. He was then released on bail of $500 to appear for trial before a Justice of the Peace to-morrow morning. The Public Prosecutor has ordered the arrest of Jerome if he tries to jump his bail. Canadian lawyers are trying to quash the complaint that Jerome played "penny-ante" poker with reporters in a public place in Coaticook.

The latest move of the Thaw lawyers literally flabbergasted the legal contingent from New York. They had not supposed there was any way for Thaw to dodge the deportation edict. Now they will have to go to Montreal and begin the fight all over again.

Jerome Is Under Bail; Arrested as Gambler

(By Long Distance Telephone From a Staff Correspondent.)

COATICOOK, Quebec, Canada, Sept. 5.—After spending an hour and a half in a cell in the town lockup here to-day on a charge of public gambling on railroad property, William Travers Jerome, former District Attorney of New York County, and Special Deputy Attorney-General of New York State, was released on bail. As soon as he was free, he set about arranging to clear himself of the charge, so that he may be able to look after Harry K. Thaw in case that fugitive should be deported this afternoon by the immigration authorities.

The accusation against Jerome is that he played poker in an automobile on the public plaza in front of the Grand Trunk station yesterday afternoon, his companions in crime being several New York reporters. The maximum penalty is imprisonment for one year. Although the prevailing public sentiment here is for Harry Thaw, several leading citizens of Coaticook called on Mr. Jerome after his release from jail and expressed their sincere regret for the occurrence, which they described as a
